Art Unit: 1711

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 4-9 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-6 of U.S. Patent No. 6,590,098. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claimed method of the reference is directed to dimerizing aliphatic diisocyanates versus the same method of the claimed invention directed to dimerizing compounds having only secondary and/or tertiary isocyanates. The reference includes such diisocyanates (col. 4, lines 53, 55-57).

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 1711

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Goldstein.

Goldstein discloses compounds having uretidione groups made from diisocyanatodichloromethane (col. 7, line 48) and comprising no isocyanurate. When a reference teaches a product that appears to be the same as a product set forth in a product-by-process claim but made from a different process (in the presence of a different catalyst), the burden of showing a difference is shifted to the applicant (See In re Marosi, 218 USPQ 289, MPEP 2113). Both Goldstein and the inventors poison and remove the catalyst and purify the uretidione product. Goldstein's product appears to be the same as the invention.

6. Claims 10-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Goldstein in view of Laas.

See paper No. 032505, paragraphs 9-11.

7. Applicant's arguments filed 12-7-05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicants argue that the product claims now distinguish over Goldstein. The examiner argues that the product is the same regardless of what catalyst was used in the process of making the uretidione product.
